ABOUT

I'm Olivier, I'm 16, and I've been teaching myself to code for years. No CS degree, no bootcamp — just hundreds of late nights and broken builds that eventually shipped. I build things that actually run in production: a full Minecraft server platform, scalable web backends, and real business websites. My main project is Boxhunt.pl, built from scratch with Paper API — anticheat, economy, rank systems, the whole thing. Peaked at 1,300+ online players and 13k Discord members. On the side I ship websites for real businesses — whoever needs something that works and looks good. Currently open to opportunities where I can build things that matter and work with people who don't take seven meetings to make a decision.
